

ALEXANDRIA.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 1.

The National Intelligencer says: "It is re markable that the exports for the three months of January, February and March, 1867, consisted chiefly of Southern products. The cotton, tobacco, &c., of the South, formed threefourths of the total amount exported, and the Northern products only one-fourth. Thus, the North contributed in less proportion to the aggregate exports of the country during the past quarter of the present year than the South."

The Washington correspondent of the Balti Sun says that in his address at the Radical Mass Meeting in Washington, on Thursday night, Mr. J. J. Stewart, of Baltimore, "expressed the wish that Maryland and Kentucky had gone out of the Union with the other Southern States, in order that the national forces could have had the pleasure of whipping them back and properly reconstructing them."

VALLEY RAILROAD. -The reader will find the proceedings of the meeting of the stockholders of the Valley Railroad, held in Staunton on the 27th inst., in another column. The report of Col. M. G. Harman, President of the Road, although read to the meeting, was not ready for the press, and therefore, we could not secure a copy. We learn from it, however, and the report of Engineer Randolph, who recently surveyed the route of the Valley Railroad from Harrisonburg to Salem, that the distance is 113 miles or 116, including the necessary sidings, &c. We are also informed that the cost of constructing and equipping the road is estimated at $58,000 per mile, or an aggregate for the entire line of $6,610,500. Mr. Randolph, in his report, assumes, after giving a summary of the products of the Valley counties through which the Road from Stras burg to Salem would pass, that the trade of the Valley alone would justify the building of the Road, and that, considering its ultimate destination, it becomes a line of trade and travel of vastly more importance to Baltimore than the main stem of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad had ever been. Col. Harman states in his report that a corps of Engineers had already been ordered, by Mr. Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Road, to Winchester, to locate the route of the Railroad from that place to Strasburg, the necessary consent to do so having been obtained. He also expresses the opinion that the Manassas Road ought to be completed to Harrisonburg by next fall. He refers to the fact that the last Legislature of Virginia amended the charter of the Valley Road so as to empower the President and Directors to negotiate for the possession of any roads between the Potomac and Tennessee lines, or the construction of one or more lines between those points. He assumes it as a fact that if the consolidation of the Manassas and Orange & Alexandria Roads is not speedily consummated on the terms proposed by the Alexandria meeting of stockholders, then that the Manassas Road from Strasburg to Harrisonburg must be built by other parties. In his remarks to the meeting, he gave flattering assurance of the early completion of this link of the great Valley chain, and seemed to entertain no doubt of the construction of the entire line to Salem within the next four or five years. Among the witnesses before the judiciary committee yesterday was Secretary Stanton, who gave evidence as to the circumstances connected with the issuing of the proclamation offering a reward for the apprehension of Jefferson Davis, and charging the latter with complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln. GARDEN SEED SEEBSIII

W have just received and opened for sale our spring supply of fresh GENUINE GARDEN SEEDS comprising all the best, and many rare varieties, and purchased from the celebrated Growe s, Thorburn & Co., of New York, and Landreth & Son, of Philadelphia. To our farmers and gardeners we guarantee satisfaction, as to quality and prices.

We are also engaged in putting up, and will have ready, in a few days, for inspection and ale, a great variety of Flower Seeds, in papers, at five cents each, or lifty cents per dozen, to which we especially invite the attention of the ladies. For a very small sum a beautiful Flow-ER EED can thus be obtained. Thankful for the liberal patronage which we received from the public in this line of our trade last year, we respectfully solicit a renewal of the same during the p esent season.
